

TT

2019 - Issue No 9 - Friday 5th April

Website: www.hwoodturners.org

Tutor: Clive Wilson 027 491 3868

FOR SALE

Tungsten-tipped steel shaft wood turning tools.

These unhandled tools are available for very low prices.

$50.00 large

$40.00 small

Viewing: see box on the front table.

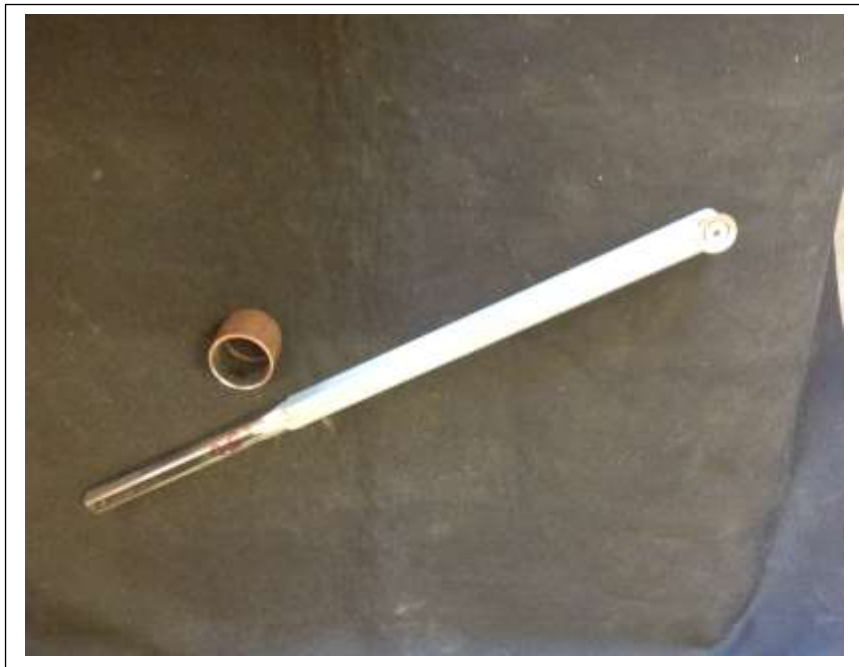

15% of each sale goes to the club coffers.

FUNDRAISER Raffles

- ! Robert Sorby Sandmaster Value $100 (picture left)
2. David Mollekin - Tungsten tip on steel shaft.

Two separate raffles.

$5.00 for three tickets .

CAELAN HARRIS will be demonstrating pen making with a difference at next Tuesday's session. All Wednesday and Thursday members are invited to attend.

So what is different? Well these pens began life as a "Slimline" style but morphed into something else.

Come and find out how this happened.

MICHAEL DOYLE, the-have-a-shot-at-any-turning-challenge-man came up with this idea using a block of laminate, wood veneers, resin and coloured square spots.

Put them altogether and..... voila..... an eye-catching pot.

CHRIS persevered with his banded kauri wood bowl after having a mishap during the turning. Repairs were needed but patience and determination won the day.
A superb finish to the project.

STEPHEN O'Connor fashioned a wine goblet using pohutukawa wood.

Well-proportioned sizes from top to base give this turning a strong sense of balance.

Our man GARY continues his foray into smaller projects and having a lot of success and fun on the journey.

Next week it's a new idea with making a tool handle using ash wood.

Guess who now has a tungsten-tipped tool that needs a handle?

THURSDAY SESSIONS

Please note that there has been a CHANGE TO the PROGRAMME. The Thursday session can now be held next week the 11th April. See you all next Thursday 6.00pm

No session on the 18th April (being the start of Easter weekend)

A session will be held on the following Thursday – ANZAC Day. 25th April

FREE TURNING MORNING

Tomorrow, Saturday 6th April, 9.00am – 12 noon
The workshop will be open to all our paid-up members to continue with their own projects.

Duty Officer: ROBERT WISELEY

JORDAN has made a flying start to his wood turning journey. In just his second project a natty classic “S” shaped vase came off his lathe. Great finish too!

DON makes every post a winning post by thirsting for knowledge, watching, listening checking....Wow those are qualities we would all like to have.

Upcoming events

- 1. Starts today. Visit the Waikato Show this weekend and you will find our club represented in the “Clubs and Creativity” section. There you will find some of our members attending a stall with two lathes operating to capture public interest and promoting the club as a great place to be.
- 2. Neil Turner workshop. This will happen next Thursday at our workshop. There are still a few places left for this very special wood turning opportunity. Interested? - contact Murray Price.

LAST, but definitely not the least.....

COLIN
Mc KENZIE

BARBERRY Wood flowers.
(natural colours)

A week ago the yellow coloured wood was growing in a paddock.

COLIN cut out a couple of blocks, turned them really thin then dried them in a microwave oven.

A Dremel tool was used to work the shaping of the petals.

Cheers, CLIVE. Prediction: The CHIEFS will not get beaten this weekend.