Good morning to all TT readers.

WAIKATO SHOW “Clubs and Creativity” section

Our club was yet again represented at last weekend’s Waikato Show with an active stall demonstrating woodturning together with a display of completed turning projects.

This is how our stall was set up at this year’s Waikato Show.

The calm before the crowds arrived.

The Waikato Show

ITEMS for sale: Show goes had plenty to choose from this line up of goodies.

A DVR lathe all set up ready to demonstrate woodturning to interested onlookers.

Our MURRAY - the club's driving force behind the organization for the Waikato Show. For the past three years Murray has put in a huge effort to ensure that the Hamilton Wood Turners Club has been well represented and prominently promoted at the annual Waikato Show.

The organization for this event takes up many hours of planning, consultation and gathering of materials. The Hamilton Club acknowledges and appreciates the work Murray does to ensure ongoing promotion and publicity for the club's operations.

Special thanks to a small team of club members who were able to support by assisting with the many tasks associated with this year's promotion.

The whole effort seems to have been very worthwhile as fifteen prospective members have indicated they would like to join the club and make a start on pursuing a happy hobby - Woodturning !

PETER completed his first pepper mill. The quality work here suggests this mill may be the first of many to come.

PETER's rolling pin. The morning tea that followed was excellent. Thanks Peter.

DAVID ROSE continues to solve the housing crisis (for birds)

HEATHER achieved her best finish to date on this bowl. Woo Hoo!

JAMES made himself a handled beer mug which he says can hold about two litres of ale. Is this a new angle on the "I'm-only-having-just-one" excuse?

Some folk who are new to turning wood will progress with basic skills very quickly. Here's a good example.

GIDEON is on a roll with his new-found hobby. Being very quick to learn and be successful with new turning skills has enabled this keen turner to try his hand at more adventurous projects.
