Many thanks to all.

THIS WEEK'S TOP TURNING

BENCENT used a block of macrocarpa wood to fashion his small lidded pot. Our Bencent has come a long way with his turning skills in just a short time.

Having a positive attitude and a NEAGE approach are key ingredients for success for everyone.

Bencent : Enjoy your trip to Australia and we look forward to your return in the new year.

THIS WEEK'S COMPLETED PROJECTS

JOHN ensures that all of his turning projects are presented with a high quality finish.

This macrocarpa bowl continues the high standard that John sets.

If it has a great shape and a neatly applied embellishment then the turning project could have been produced on RICHARD'S lathe.

This chestnut wood bowl with its embellishment of painstakingly burned on markings is another example of Richard's quality work.

Excellent!

RARE, good quality wood for your next special project

FUNDRAISER for WORKSHOP EQUIPMENT

AN EXTREMELY RARE OPPORTUNITY – an unrepeatable offer for paid up course members only.

The wood in picture is now on sale for your special project. Sales of this wood will operate only during our regular session times. Tuesdays, Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

THERE WILL BE NO SATURDAY SESSION SALES OF THIS WOOD.

The wood has been in storage for the past 8-10 years and is mostly figured swamp kauri with some blocks of blackwood and other natives. (marked accordingly)

Prices as indicated on each block. (be patient - I am still adding this information)

I am happy to help you make your selection. CLIVE

New turner STEVE Abernethy (dad) completed his first shot at bowl turning using a block of London plane wood. A texturing tool was used to add an embellishment.

A top job Steve!

A family effort

Also new to wood turning, EMILY Abernethy, (daughter) completed just her second project – a bud vase.

Exceptional work for a newbie!

Some wood turners could be described as innovative Trailblazers, or pathfinders, Pioneers, Inquisitive experimenters – our COLIN is probably all of these.

His spinning top not only hums the first note of the National Anthem it also turns upside down as it slows down and continues to spin on its shaft.

Don't forget to REMEMBER,
THE 3rd of NOVEMBER

DEMONSTRATION

Terry Scott will be demonstrating his turning techniques.

All welcome to attend this special event that will have a theme of NICK-KNACKS and CHRISTMASSY THINGIES.

$5 door charge (fundraiser)

Terry will be bringing his shop where you can make a selection from an array of turning goodies. However if there are any special items you need give Terry a call and he will bring your order with him.

SATURDAY 3rd November will be an opportunity for some much-needed club fundraising so please do attend, bring a friend, invite your neighbour etc [9.00a.m. – Noon]

A many-prizes RAFFLE will be in operation on this occasion. EVERYONE WELCOME.
