TT's Top Turning this Week

GRANT has been with us for about the shortest possible time and WOW!..... look at this early success.

The classic elongated “S” design for his vase project.

Grant is fairly whizzing through the club’s introductory skills programme.

A double “Goodonya” gong for this very smart turning outcome.

.....then in between this and last week’s Tuesday session GRANT found time to produce this rimu/tonka wood rocket to add to the Christmas donation box.

GARY produced another of his wheeled toy specials to add to the Chrissie Prezzie box.

All Welcome

Saturday morning free turning session
23rd November (tomorrow)

9.00am - 12 noon

Support person: ROBERT WISELEY

Wednesday's JIM has been busy in his home workshop creating this excellent resin inlay bowl.

Determined, patient sanding work has resulted in a high quality finish.

Well done JIM.

TWO more new members have joined the TUESDAY group bringing that session roll up to capacity. All 14 lathes will now be in use for that session.

WELCOME to NATALIE and ROYZ.

Picture left shows their very first achievements for project number one.

A great start to the introductory skills programme.

Tuesday's MALCOLM added this clever toy to the donation box to brighten some lucky child's Christmas.

Thoughtful work with a very smart collection of ideas went into this creation.

RICHARD, our Wednesday session experiment guru, has been trialling stains and used one of his concoctions to improve the finish of this project.
Impressive!

HAVE YOU MADE YOUR CANDLESTICK ENTRY INTO THIS MONTH'S COMPETITION?

Here's what Richard has done so far.
The competition closes on the last day of November so get cracking and get your entry finalised.
The TT is putting up a great prize to be presented on December 8th at our Christmas function..

Any size - any shape - any wood - any idea.

Have a go. Join the fun.
(refer previous TTs (2) for further information)

It's surprising and indeed exciting to see what club members can do when given a loose rein.

ANDRE` has fashioned a block of heavily barked pohutukawa wood that has been speared with a deer antler. The post will then serve as a post to hold a world globe.

Now there's something different eh.

End-of-Year celebration

SUNDAY 8th December – 11.30am

A shared lunch format (bring a plate to share)

At the Hawley residence. (at the same place we met last year)

Next week members will be asked to provide numbers attending to assist with other catering decisions.

Please add your name/numbers to the notice board in the workshop.

More candlestick competition entries are needed.

Have you completed yours yet?

Any size, any shape, any wood, any design, any anything - as long as it can hold a candle.

A great TT prize for the winner.

See you all next week

Cheers

Clive
