

MIXED MEDIA PROJECTS

Our current initiative is achieving success with turning projects that include non-wood materials..... although it is expected the main material used will be the usual good old wood, native or exotic. So it's time to get inventive, creative, courageous and ultra daring. JOHN BAKER's project (pictured above) includes embossed sheet copper, two colours of leather strip, a swamp kauri base, a neat-fitting matai lid then finished with a swamp rimu finial.

A superb outcome!

WAYNE O'HALLORAN used blocks of spruce and rimu woods to create his well-made, two-tone deep bowl.

Wayne met his goal of achieving a continuous arc across the bowl from rim to rim.

Practice makes perfect eh.

DAVE ("Have-a-go") FREW is showing his inventive thinking with his angled inset of dowelling to create colour contrasts and interesting layout. GOODONYA Dave.

Get well soon DAVID MOLLEKIN.

The TUESDAY group are saddened that David won't be able to be with them for some time.

It seems that our David picked a fight with an oversize parsnip while standing on one of his raised gardens, lost his footing and came a cropper. A broken ball joint on his femur will, no doubt, sideline his wood turning for a while.

Tomorrow
a working bee!

CAELAN used heavy-duty laminate to turn this very large bowl. If you look closely at the centre outline there is somewhat a resemblance of Captain Cook's original map of Australiastanding on its Brisbane point.

(this was a deliberate addition of course)

It seems to be inevitable that newbie turners, at least once, experience a "going-through-the-bottom-of-the-bowl" mishap. This time it was SARAH's turn.....BUT do have a look at the very clever way Sarah was able to rescue the work. Well done Sarah.

CHARLOTTE was as pleased as Punch with her much-admired kauri bowl.

No STRIA, no scratches, great presentation and a fancy finish.

WOW! that's a winner.

56 Days until CHRISTMAS

WORKING BEE

Note to all club members

A working bee has been scheduled for TOMORROW Saturday 31st October

9.00 am to 12 noon.

There's much to be done so many hands
will be needed

A rainbow of colours makes a strong statement in RICHARD's beautiful birch wood bowl.

A pretty special woodie treasure here.

ZEB, the club's newest member, with his very first turning project, turned the "chubby" for a French knitting gadget. Notably quick to pick up on ideas, ZEB cruised through 'rubbing the bevel' exercises.

Methinks there's a heap of potential to be unlocked

Another Christmas gift for our collection box.

Many thanks RICHARD.

Our COLIN has made this style of project for some time now and each one sporting subtle improvements and the previous model.

A combination of pyrography, turning skill and a rampant creative streak.

Goodonya Colin!

OK That's the lot for now. The TUESDAY group starts its final 5-week course for the year next week. The WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY groups also begin their year-ending half-course next week. (5 weeks)

Hey everyone the CHRISTMAS boxes are on the shelf and need more items for a needy cause.

Cheers

Clive
