ISSUE No 21 Friday 2nd July 2021

This week's STANDOUT

MALCOLM PORTEOUS had to wait 40 years before he could turn this beautifully grained piece of magnolia wood. A top job Malcolm.

Sales Table

It's not too late to bring your unwanted turning projects to the workshop. All next week the shop will be operating so bring them in any day next week.

WAYNE has a happy knack of producing a fine finish to his turnings. This kauri wood bowl is a fine example of his skill.

CAELAN's excellent platter of European walnut wood features an even run from rim to rim together with a silky smooth finish.

DAVE FREW has used woods with contrasting colours to create this intriguing fancy turning.

(Baltic pine and native rimu woods)

Remember, if I cannot break it, no-one can!

RICHARD's Totara wood platter has been enhanced with hundreds of pyrographic straight line etchings.

Lots of patience and a keen eye required for this job.

GETTING READY for OUR SALE day

Here's a small selection from just two of our members who have entered these items for next week's sale.

It's not yet too late to bring in your sale items.

Deposit your unwanted goodies (with all the required details) in the white boxes and they will be taken to our pop-up shop for eventual sale.

SATURDAY MORNING - 3rd July

OPEN WORKSHOP 9.00am - 12 noon.

Duty Officer: Robert Wiseley

We have enrolled three new members this past week (“there’s no more room at the Inn”)

They were so engrossed in their turning they didn’t have time to pose for the camera.

A very warm welcome to you all

LYNDALL is all smiles at making an excellent job of a rewarewa wood rolling pin.

These devices are essential for making a batch of scones.

Thanks heaps WENDY. Those goodies you put on the table last Thursday night are testament to your well advanced culinary skills.

A ruggedly beautiful oak burr expertly turned by our MURRAY.

Quite a special highly grained woody wonder.

In turnings such as this, it's possible to see something new every time you look at it.

GARY used the classic "S" shape for his fence post vase. A good eye for flowing lines eh Gary.

SPENCER used an ancient cross-arm taken from one of yesteryear's power poles to make his tall vase. A rimu base completes the great turning project.

Flowering Cherry squat pot bowl.

MIKE's very thoughtful challenge with the coloured resin rim turned out surprisingly well. (given that a dozy spot was discovered half way through the job)

A turner enjoying a rapid rise through the basic skills programme.

Well done MIKE.

ROSS used two contrasting coloured woods to fashion his big biscuit barrel. A great choice of woods and an excellent outcome. Chestnut and red gum.

WOW!

A super special bowl turned by STEPHEN HAWLEY from a large block of Tassie blackwood.
